There's not a child in the world who can't benefit from this program.

There are so many instances where we see children who have been damaged and hurt.

Things happened to them and we think, if they'd only had this program, if they'd only had the benefit of this education, that might not have happened to them. If we can prevent that from happening to a single child, then it's worth all the effort we have put forth

The MBF Child Safety Matters program is impressive. This important information is well formulated and well presented, developmentally appropriate, and based on good understanding of literature.
