Academic Year 2024 Supporting Consultative Services

The AAC Institute Clinic has designed a supportive consultative service on augmentative and alternative communication (AAC) assistive technology for student(s) in the Warren County School District. The supportive consultative service will include declarative and procedural learning with guided opportunities to acquire new AAC skills on evidence-based practices. These supportive services include reviewing treatment protocol, assisting in creating evidence-based practice AAC activities and Environmental Communication Teaching (ECT) activities, and data collection procedures to monitor the students' gains.

Personnel: ICAN™ Talk Clinic will provide speech-language pathologists licensed by the Commonwealth of PA and certified by the American Speech Language Hearing Association (ASHA). Our speech language pathologists serving the district have specialized training and years of clinical experience in augmentative and alternative communication (AAC) interventions and the evaluation and treatment of speech generating devices (SGDs). In addition, our speech language pathologists serving the district seek continual professional development in the areas of AAC, assistive technology, and special education. Our speech language pathologists may be accompanied by a graduate student in training from the University of Pittsburgh with appropriate clearances.

Liability: ICAN™ Talk Clinic will carry general professional liability insurance (policy #AHY-518752013; Liberty Insurance Underwriters Inc.) covering all ICAN™ Talk Clinic personnel throughout the term of this contract. ICAN™ Talk Clinic will carry a Workman's Compensation Policy (policy # UB-9K51242A; Travelers).

In-Service AAC Trainings, Follow Up and Wrap-Up Session: Introduction/Observation of new students/staff to clinicians at the start of the year. This will be a maximum of 1 day for observing, addressing needs and any technical issues. The end of year wrap-up will be with the clinicians and 1 day of observing, addressing needs and any technical issues.

The AAC teams will be responsible for presenting goals/objectives, activities and progress on their selected student and providing support to other teams going through the training process. AAC Institute Clinic clinician will conduct observations and review data collection/analysis, provide on-site support for staff, Q&As, etc.
